BEE VENOM FACE CREAM

HOW TO USE: Apply morning and evening as a complementary gesture to the beauty routine.

TO FIRM: Massage the cream with circular movements starting from the central part of the neck towards the jaw. Repeat the application and massage from the chin to the outside.

TO TONE: With your fingertips, gently pinch the skin from the chin to the outside.

TO REMODEL: With both hands, spread the cream under the chin and along the jaw, massaging vigorously the skin from the center to the outside. End the application by pressing the chin upwards for 5 seconds.

INDICATIONS: A cream with powerful anti-aging effect, performed by two main active ingredients contained in bee venom:

apamin: it is a toxin that makes the skin immediately more relaxed for an effect very similar to that produced by botox (which is often compared to bee venom). Unlike botox, the action of the apamin is not carried out at the deep level of the skin, but only superficially, providing, however, an immediate smoothing effect.

melittin: a mixture of amino acids that helps the skin repair itself and stimulates the fibroblasts to produce new collagen and new elastin, for a filler-like action.

Furthermore, melittin has an anti-inflammatory action, and therefore is particularly useful for the more mature skin in which there is an increase in cellular inflammation that favors the aging process.

For these reasons, therefore, the bee venom cream performs an action similar to the filler:

- smoothes and smoothes the skin making it younger, fresh and bright;
- repairs damage to skin cells caused by the aging process and stimulates the production of collagen and elastin, very useful to redefine the contours and make the skin immediately more elastic and soft.

No bees are killed, bee venom is obtained in an absolutely safe and non-bloody way: inside the beehive, in a controlled beekeeping area, a small metal plate is inserted, which emits a very light electric discharge, almost imperceptible, but sufficient to alarm the bees, which bite by defensive reaction (bees do not suffer any electric shock).

However, the metal surface cannot be penetrated by the sting, which remains well attached to the bee's abdomen (saving its life), while it secretes the precious poison, which remains attached to the plate and is subsequently collected for processing in the laboratory.

This cream, then enriched with Hyaluronic Acid, gives the skin deep hydration, making the complexion uniform and deeply regenerated. With the continuous treatment, the oval of the face is redefined, the skin is strengthened, the lines and wrinkles are reduced. A fundamental ally for those seeking obvious results from day one. Does not contain Paraben, Petrolatum.
